Cannas.

The advent of the dwarf free flowering French Cannas marks the beginning of a new era in their history. They are destined to be among the foremost bedding plants of the next decade. Improvement will add to their popularity as much as t did to that of the chrysanthemum and we should not be surprised to hear the people clamoring of Canna shows before many seasons. Florists should keep apace of the times by having a stock of dwarf Cannas to show their customers.

ALPHONSE BOUVIER—The most intensely brilliant crimson we have seen. An excellent bedding variety for planting in masses. The foliage is a rich green. The plant is of a strong robust habit and very floriferous. One of the finest cannas we have.—75 cts. each, $8.00 per doz.

I. MONTEL—The flowers are of a beautiful and exceedingly dark crimson; foliage dark; medium height; has the darkest colored flowers of all the Cannas.
75 cts. each, $8.00 per doz.

CAPITAINE P. DE SUZZONI—The nearest approach to a pure yellow canna of good size. The color is a light canary yellow lightly dotted with cinnnamon red; the flower of good form, large and held nicely erect on a dwarf stocky plant. The foliage a light green. Altogether a grand sort.

MADAM CROZY—Color a bright scarlet bordered with golden yellow. Flowers of large perfect form borne very freely on stout erect stems. Plant dwarf. Foliage a bright green. Altogether still peerless in the hearts of the people.
30 cts. each, $3.25 per doz., $25.00 per 100.

Although we feel that it is inferior to a number of other later introductions and Madam Crozy, it still possesses marked traits which make it deserving of cultivation, particularly as a pot plant for winter blooming.—25 cts. each, $3.00 per doz.

Ipomoea Noctiphyton.

The Moon flower is as popular and salable as ever. We have a fine stock.
2½ inch pots, 50 cts. per dozen, $4.00 per 100.

Ipomoea Paniculata.

For many years we cultivated this magnificent climber under the names of Ipomea tuberosa, then mexicana, and of late palmata. We had assumed the names of our own accord successively as we were informed by persons whom we esteemed competent authorities in the matter and according to our own research. Last year however the late Prof. J. C. Duffey of the Mo. Botanical Gardens planted a number of the roots in a portion of the gardens where the plants were particularly observed by Prof. Trelease and his assistants, who on noticing the great beauty of the plants, and not being familiar with the variety, began an investigation, which established beyond a doubt that the vine is not as last called Ipomoea palmata, but Ipomoea paniculata, described with accurate illustrations in old English horticultural papers.

As we have several times previously changed the name of the plant, we wish to state now, that we had never before any botanical authority for the names assumed, which makes us confident that the present new name is the proper one, and we hope the fraternity will at as early a day as possible adopt the name of Ipomoea paniculata.

The plant is one of sterling merit. The large palmate leaves are borne on long vines and make a beautiful picture in themselves. The flowers of a rosy lilac tint are very freely produced and highly attractive. Push it, you are sure to please. 2 year roots, $2.50 per doz., $20.00 per 100.—1 year roots, extra, $2.00 per doz., $15.00 per 100.—1 year roots, second size, $1.25 per doz., $10.00 per 100.

FOR THE NEW ROSE

AMERICAN ❀ BELLE.

This grand new rose, raised by Mr. John Burton of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, will be distributed about April 15th, 1893.

American Belle possesses all the good qualities of American Beauty, but differs from it in color, being a deep clear pink, without the slightest tinge of blue even after being cut for a few days.

It has carried first honors wherever shown and will undoubtedly hold as prominent a position, in the cut flower market as American Beauty. It is not claimed to be a competitor to the Beauty, but a fit companion. It possesses the same fragrance.

Orders will be filled April 15th, 1893, in strict rotation as received. Plants to be strong and healthy, from 2½ inch pots.

Prices: $9.00 per dozen, $60.00 per 100 (25 at hundred rate).
